

The safety gap is a distance; the wearer can move in the time it takes to see them

